Further particulars for the position of Dean of Chapel

January 2018

Confidential
Requirement

Following the appointment of the current Dean of Chapel, the Reverend Duncan Dormor, as the new Chief Executive Officer of United Society Partners in the Gospel, St John’s College hopes to appoint a successor as soon as possible. The Dean of Chapel oversees and manages the provision of services and the conduct of divine worship in the College Chapel in accordance with the rites of the Anglican Church; the activities of the choirs and Chapel music generally, and the pastoral care provided by the Chapel to resident members and staff of the College community, regardless of their religious beliefs. The Dean of Chapel is a Fellow of the College.

St John’s College

St. John’s College was founded in 1511 by Lady Margaret Beaufort, the mother of King Henry VII. It is one of the largest of the colleges in the University of Cambridge. It is a registered charity and the charitable purposes of the College are the advancement of education, religion, learning and research.

The College has some 160 Fellows covering the complete range of academic disciplines. The student body is made up of both undergraduate and graduate students. The College has some 530 undergraduates in residence and admits approximately 170 new undergraduates every October. St John’s has on average approximately 320 graduate students in residence and admits over 100 new graduate students every year. The College is a very diverse community with 15% of its undergraduates and 55% of its graduates coming from overseas. The College is actively engaged in a range of initiatives to widen the participation of undergraduates from low-income households.

Further information on the College can be found on the College website www.joh.cam.ac.uk

The life of the Chapel

St John’s College Chapel is the second largest of the Cambridge chapels with a level of activity and attendance to match. Choral Evensong takes place on a daily basis during University terms, and these services are open to the public. Those attending are a mix of college members (Fellows, staff and students), regulars from the university and city, visiting musicians, academics and others from around the world. Average total weekly attendance is 695 with average Sunday attendance across three services of 245 and a weekday attendance of 450.

The College has two Chapel choirs: the College Choir and St John’s Voices. The College Choir is an all-male choir (16 boys from St John’s College School; 15 undergraduate choral students and 2 organ scholars) directed by Andrew Nethsingha and with a high international reputation. Evensong is sung by the College Choir in the Chapel at 6.30 pm on six days a week during Full Term, Tuesday to Sunday. In addition there is a Sung Eucharist at 10.30 am on Sundays during Full Term. Further to this, the College Choir sings at choral services outside Full Term, in late June and the early part of July. St John’s Voices, founded in 2014, is a student mixed-voice choir with undergraduate and postgraduate members. Directed by Graham Walker, the choir has gone from strength to strength. It sings Choral Evensong at 6.30pm on Monday evenings and a number of other services on various occasions throughout the year, in addition to performing external engagements in the UK and abroad. Their first recording is anticipated in 2019.

There are a number of special services throughout the year (Matriculation, Remembrance Sunday, Advent Carol Service, the Epiphany Carol Service, Ash Wednesday Evensong, the Lent Meditation, Commemoration of Benefactors, Confirmation Service, Ascension Day, Graduation Service, Joint Evensong with King’s College) some of which are regularly broadcast by the BBC. Choral services are also webcast on a weekly basis from a website dedicated to promoting the activities of the College Choir: www.sjcchoir.co.uk. In addition to performing at concert venues in the UK, the College Choir go on tour two or three times a year and are usually accompanied by either the Dean or the Chaplain. In recent years they have visited the USA, the Far East, Central and Northern Europe.

The two choirs provide opportunities for musical education to a very high standard and the College has a track record of producing accomplished musicians – singers, conductors, instrumentalists and composers. St John’s alumni are prominent amongst the leading Cathedral musicians of the UK as well as more widely in the world of classical music. In addition to training people within the Anglican choral tradition, St John’s College Chapel has sought to develop the College Choir’s outstanding international reputation through various innovative activities e.g. pioneering webcasting services in the UK, the creation of an online resource for choral directors and through an extensive programme of commissioning contemporary composers. In 2016, the College founded a St John’s label in conjunction with Signum Records as a vehicle for recordings by the College Choir, promising student instrumentalists and alumni. Its first disc, Deo, won a BBC Music magazine award.

In addition to choral services there are a number of informal services for the College community, for which the Chaplain is primarily responsible, including a said service of Holy Communion at 8.30am on Sunday mornings and a regular service of Compline. There is a lively engagement on the part of students with the worshipping and community life of the Chapel and the Chaplain is primarily responsible for fostering the social and community side of Chapel life through hospitality, discussion groups and a wide range of activities which will occur principally during the academic year.

There are a number of weddings (c. 10), a small number of baptisms and memorial services, and the occasional funeral each year in the College Chapel.

The College clergy are also involved in the life of St John’s College School, the largest Choir school in the UK with 470 pupils. The Dean is an ex officio member of the Governors and in the past has often served as Chair.

The Dean is responsible for overseeing all activities associated with the Chapel and choirs and has responsibility for 5.2 FTE staff (excluding Lay Clerks) and several significant budgets. Responsibilities include acting as Secretary to the Livings Committee and taking the primary responsibility for overseeing the activities of the College in its capacity as a patron of around forty parishes; taking an active role in monitoring the charitable activities of the College as a member of the Charities Committee; and, promoting the work of the Choir Association, a predominantly alumni organization, which supports the work of the College Choir.

In 2019 the College will mark the 150th anniversary of the ‘new’ Chapel. In close collaboration with others, the Dean will take a lead in ensuring a suitable programme of events and activities and be involved in the implantation of a new sound and lighting scheme.
