3. Special Collections

Some of the contents of the Special Collections held in the Old Library may be of interest to students of English. The manuscript collections contain several examples of Middle English, including a fifteenth century manuscript of Chaucer's *Troilus and Criseide, as well as many later items of interest, such as an early manuscript of Sir Philip Sidney's *Countess of Pembroke's Arcadia, and the autograph of Thomas Sackville's *Complaint of Henry Duke of Buckingham. Amongst the printed collections are early, in some cases first, editions of works by authors such as Jonson, Drayton, Dryden, Defoe, Pope, and Sterne. There are also first editions of later works such as Fitzgerald's translation of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, Shelley's Necessity of atheism, and the Lyrical ballads by Wordsworth and Coleridge. Wordsworth is one of several old Johnian authors for whom a more substantial collection of material can be found in the Old Library, which contains various editions of his works, a few of his books and personal effects, and some of his manuscripts.

The Samuel Butler collection contains books by, about, and owned by the author of Erewhon and the Way of all flesh, as well as manuscripts, music, photographs, pictures, drawings, and personal effects. Please ask the Special Collections Librarian, if you would like to explore these resources further.

Recommendations

The College Library aims to provide all works necessary for Part One courses, and a selection of the most important works for Part Two. We receive reading lists from the departmental libraries in advance of each academic year, and continually update the Library collections in response to requests from Directors of Studies, supervisors, and students. You can recommend an item by using the online recommendation form or by filling in a recommendation form available at the Issue Desk. All reasonable requests will be considered. If texts you require for your course are not available in the College Library, please talk to a member of Library staff. Recommendation cards for new purchases are located at the Issue Desk.

Help

If you have any difficulty in tracing the material you need, whether in printed or electronic format, please ask a member of Library staff for assistance.
