

ART in the Old Library

Pen drawing by Sam Motherwell, 2012

A brand new education opportunity at St John's College Library

Art A-Level and GCSE classes are invited to come and draw in the magnificent seventeenth-century library at St John's College, Cambridge. Visits can be arranged throughout the school year, and tailored to suit the requirements of your group. An exhibition of original drawings, paintings and photographs from the Library's Samuel Butler Collection will provide additional inspiration! For more information, or to organise a visit, contact the Butler Project Associate, Rebecca Watts, on 01223 339362 or email rew35@cam.ac.uk.

www.joh.cam.ac.uk/samuel-butler-project

Supported by

The National Lottery[®]

through the Heritage Lottery Fund

