

THE UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE
DEPARTMENT OF APPLIED MATHEMATICS & THEORETICAL PHYSICS
AND
ST JOHN'S COLLEGE

DIRAC LECTURE 2015

Professor Sir Michael Atiyah

University of Edinburgh

What is an Electron?

Dirac was a man of few words but many radical and beautiful ideas. These pervade modern physics and still challenge us today. I will discuss what we can learn from Dirac and how he might help us answer the question in my title.

4pm, Monday 11th May,
Wolfson Room (MR2), Centre for Mathematical Sciences

All interested are invited to attend